Month of the Holy Name

Pastor's Corner

Last week, Jesus announced the kingdom of God is at hand. This week, in mighty words and deeds, He exercises His dominion—asserting royal authority the ruler of this world, Satan.

Notice that today's events take place on the sabbath. The sabbath was to be an everlasting sign—both of God's covenant love for His creation, and His deliverance of His covenant people, Israel, from slavery.

On this sabbath, Jesus signals a new creation—that the Holy One has come to purify His people and deliver the world from evil. "With an unclean spirit" is biblical language for a man possessed by a demon, Satan being the prince of demons.

The demons' question: "What have you to do with us?" is often used in Old Testament scenes of combat and judgment. And as God by His Word "rebuked" the forces of chaos in creating the world, and again rebuked the Red Sea so the Israelites could make their exodus, Mark uses the same word to describe Jesus rebuking the demons.

Jesus is the prophet foretold by Moses in today's First Reading. Though He has authority over heaven and earth, He becomes one of our own kinsmen.

He comes to rebuke the forces of evil and chaos—not only in the world, but in our lives. He wants to make us holy in body and spirit, as Paul says in today's Epistle.

In this liturgy, we hear His voice and "see" His works, as we sing in today's Psalm. And as Moses tells us today, we should listen to Him.

Sunday Gospel and Background

Gospel: Mark 1:21-28

He has authority over all creation.

- The Gospels reveal Jesus to be the true prophet, the one who not only brings the word of God but who is the Word of God.
- In the first chapter of the Gospel of Mark, there are several stories illustrating Jesus' authority.
- Today's passage tells of Jesus casting out a demon. The people are amazed because the demon obeys Jesus. <https://lifelongcatechesis.osv.com/>

God's Word Is Always Being Spoken Centuries earlier, God had promised through Jeremiah that "the days are coming . . . when . . . I will place my law within them and write it upon their hearts" (Jeremiah 31:31, 33). Of course, "the days to come" are always here and now. The reign of God is always "at hand." So, God's word is always being spoken.

Usually, though, we miss God's word, as available as it always is. It's as if a movie, filled with wonder and excitement, were always playing away for our enjoyment; meanwhile, we manage to busy ourselves with other things—and eventually wander off—not willing to give our full attention. What Jesus did was stir up a message that had been placed deep within his listeners before they were born, etched in their hearts by God. "Wake up!" he urged, and some people didn't wander off. They listened, "spellbound."

And what of us? Must we wait for a charismatic teacher to come and wake us up? Well, we may wait a long time. Let's not give in to the old "homilies are stale" and "church is boring" excuses. God's word is always being spoken. If only we can learn to pay attention, we will be spellbound. Copyright © 2007, World Library Publications. All rights reserved.
