Month of the Immaculate Heart of Mary

As Ezekiel is appointed watchman over the house of Israel in today's first Reading, so Jesus in the Gospel today establishes His disciples as guardians of the new Israel of God, the Church.

He also puts in place procedures for dealing with sin and breaches of the faith, building on rules of discipline prescribed by Moses for Israel. The heads of the new Israel, however, receive extraordinary powers—similar to those given to Peter. They have the power to bind and loose, to forgive sins and to reconcile sinners in His name.

But the powers He gives the Apostles and their successors depend on their communion with Him. As Ezekiel is only to teach what he hears God saying, so the disciples are to gather in His name and to pray and seek the will of our heavenly Father.

But today's readings are more than a lesson in Church order. They also suggest how we're to deal with those who trespass against us, a theme that we'll hear in next week's readings as well.

Notice that both the Gospel and the First Reading presume that believers have a duty to correct sinners in our midst. Ezekiel is even told that he will be held accountable for their souls if he fails to speak out and try to correct them.

This is the love that Paul in today's Epistle says we owe to our neighbors. To love our neighbors as ourselves is to be vitally concerned for their salvation. We must make every effort, as Jesus says, to win our brothers and sisters back, to turn them from the false paths.

We should never correct out of anger or a desire to punish. Instead, our message must be that of today's Psalm—urging the sinner to hear God's voice, not to harden their hearts, and to remember that He is the one who made us, the rock of our salvation.

Catholic Relief Services In less than two months, earthquakes have struck Venezuela, Colombia and Indonesia. CRS works with local community partners to respond with compassion and expertise, delivering lifesaving aid and supporting long-term recovery

In Colombia, 240 people were killed and nearly 4,000 were injured. The 7.4 magnitude earthquake struck western Colombia, devastated more than 45,000 homes and essential infrastructure, including schools and health centers.

In Indonesia, 70 people were killed, more than 1,000 people were injured and more than 40,000 were displaced. More than 11,000 houses and 700 public buildings which include more than 95 health facilities were damaged after a 7.7 earthquake struck off the north coast of Indonesia.

In Venezuela, two back-to-back powerful earthquakes – measuring magnitudes of 7.2 and 7.5 – struck Venezuela, killing over 6,300 people, injured over 73,000 and displacing about 18,000.

Donations to support ongoing emergency response and recovery efforts in Colombia, Indonesia and Venezuela can be made directly to Catholic Relief Services. To donate, please visit: <https://www.crs.org/>

~Activity of the Week~

Talk with your family about ways to correct someone and still stay friends. In today's Gospel Jesus suggested: 1. Talk with the person yourself. 2. Talk with the person with one or two others. 3. Tell someone in charge. <https://lifelongcatechesis.osv.com/>

~Questions of the Week~ We are called to help one another grow as a community of faith.

Question for Children: What is one thing you would do for someone whom you loved?

Question for Youth: Jesus tells us about the importance of community and friendship. When have you helped heal an argument between friends? How did that feel?

Question for Adults: How do you make sure you follow the way of love as described by Paul in today's reading? What steps do you take to eliminate the unloving — grudges, hatred, prejudice, or others. <https://lifelongcatechesis.osv.com/>

Heed The Warning In answering God's call to be a prophet, Ezekiel took on a serious duty. Just as the watchman sounded a trumpet to warn the citizens of impending danger, so was it the prophet's responsibility to warn the people to repent. If the townsfolk ignored the watchman's trumpet and were taken by the enemy, the watchman was not to blame. Yet in the task of warning the people, the watchman was responsible for the welfare of the entire community. In the same way, the prophet only needed to deliver the message. What the listeners did upon receiving it was their own choice. Nevertheless, the prophet's responsibility to the community was clear. To shirk that duty would be a disservice to all.

In Paul's Letter to the Romans, he tells us to go beyond the letter of God's law to its heart, which is love. What the fourth through tenth commandments really challenge us to do is love our neighbor. As Paul points out and as the Gospel clarifies, we cannot do this passively or by choosing not to get involved. Copyright © 2007, World Library Publications. All rights reserved

A Responsible Christian Loving one another is not easy to do. There will always be those whose actions damage and disrupt the community and cause harm to the world at large. It is our responsibility to challenge those actions and shed the light of the gospel on them, but to do so in a loving way. In a culture where public sentiment can run strong, demonstrating such restraint and respect may feel like swimming upstream. Yet today's Gospel invites us not to condemn out of hand, but to engage in a dialogue with the offender that can result in conversion and change. To fail to do so is to shrink from our Christian responsibility. In the light of today's Gospel, what do you think could be the appropriate Christian responses to the many different actions of relatives, friends, fellow citizens, and government authorities in the past year?
